TrusttheDJ are pleased to add legendary DJ Kevin Saunderson's name to its ever expanding rosta of online mix albums. Kevin needs no introduction as the artist/producer/DJ from Detroit who along with friends Juan Atkins and Derrick May, invented techno and shaped dance music as we know it.

Kevin's first release for TTDJ is "a representation of my persona as a DJ, which can sometimes be a little harder, musically, and so this is a much more driving mix. Needless to say, it is still filled with music that I love to play and it therefore subscribes to my belief that music should come from the heart and soul, whether you produce, remix or simply just play it."

This underground mix takes in tracks from E-Dancer, one of Kevin's many guises on his own KMS label, and Octave One's 'Blackwater', featuring Kevin's partner Anne Saunderson. 'Blackwater' is currently emerging as one of the first major tunes of 2002. In return for Kevin's E-Dancer mix of the track, Detroit's Octave One have remixed the re-release of Inner City's seminal 'Good Life' (date?) (entitled Good Love - E-Dancer versus Inner City? On which label?) (can someone please check this)

Kevin Saunderson will be DJing at the MTV Party in Amsterdam's Melkweg on 1st February.

THIS ALBUM IS AN INTERNET ONLY RELEASE EXCLUSIVELY FROM www.kevinsaunderson.com
